substantial pro rata cost saving with less tiling and waterproofing.

To win the ISH Design Plus award, the UB1 product had to compete not only against the world's elite manufacturers, but tick all the right boxes covering design quality, overall concept, degree of innovativeness and choice of materials, demonstrating superior technical and ecological solutions such as water conservation and recyclable materials.

All UB model are made of stainless steel, including the handbasin and toilet pan -with a moulded acrylic seat; they have a rigid stainless steel frame with an epoxy-coated white finish. A very innovative winner.

It's a winner! New bathroom appliance claims international design prize

An Australian-designed, super-compact appliance that conceals a toilet, a handbasin and even an optional shower, has won a highly-prized international award, affirming its place as a global catalyst for significant change in bathroom innovation.

Sydney-based Uniq Bathrooms will receive the prestigious ISH 2017 Design Plus Award in Frankfurt, Germany, at the ISH International Fair - the world's largest plumbing, energy and water exhibition. From March 14 – 18, the award-winning appliance - the UB1 - will be among 2,400 international exhibitors from 106 countries.

The UB1 stands out from the crowd as the world's first stand-alone bathroom appliance that packs all three essential bathroom fixtures into one unit. Each utility can be pulled out and pushed back in again as and when required at the touch of a remote control. Aptly dubbed 'the bathroom in a box' and 'the disappearing loo', the UB1 creates the ultimate contemporary, minimalist aesthetic - a bold, new paradigm in interior design.

Uniq Bathrooms' director and UB1 designer, Malcolm Carver, says that just as the dishwasher revolutionised the kitchen, the UB series of appliances is poised to revolutionise the conventional bathroom space.

There'll no longer be any need for the physical presence of a separate toilet, hand basin and shower in the bathroom.

"You just won't see them," said Malcolm. "All you'll see is a streamlined, white panel. From the outside, it'll be the same size as a dishwasher and just like a dishwasher, it can be either freestanding or built in. There's just no need for all that wasted space anymore."

Not every model has all three fixtures. The UB1 contains a toilet, handbasin, three storage drawers and optional shower (UB1-S); the UB2 has just the toilet and handbasin; and the top-of-the-range UB3 has all three major fixtures, and comes with a prefabricated glass shower recess and self-draining timber base.

The UB1 can halve the size of a traditional bathroom, which usually requires at least one square metre of space for each fixture. The UB series needs just one square metre all up and can reduce the floor area required for a typical bathroom by up to 60%; and if it's in a luxury bathroom it leaves space for a bath.

Uniq Bathrooms' products are ideal not just for small spaces on land – such as in apartments, hotels or hospitals – but are also perfect for cruise ships and aeroplanes. With its space efficiency, comes a

Tim Firth's hilarious comedy

Ensemble Theatre - 78 McDougall Street, Kirribilli

Four city-dwelling business men set out on a team-building weekend only to become trapped on an island in the wilds of Tasmania. As day turns to cold, cold night, the men discover hidden vulnerabilities and unexpected strengths as they battle the elements and each other.

Tim Firth's wicked comedy is a masterful look at men trying to make the best of a bad situation while they remain, unfortunately... men.
