Who are those people? The plaques of Circular Quay

Set in the pavement around Circular Quay, from the Opera House to the International Passenger Terminal are 60 metal plaques which celebrate the lives and works of writers. It's the Sydney Writers Walk, which honours not only Australian writers (including Banjo Paterson, Colleen McCullough, Barry Humphries and Germaine Greer) but also foreigners who lived in, or visited, Australia, such as D H Lawrence, Rudyard Kipling and Mark Twain. Each plaque sums up the writer's thoughts on Australia - whether serious, poignant or funny.

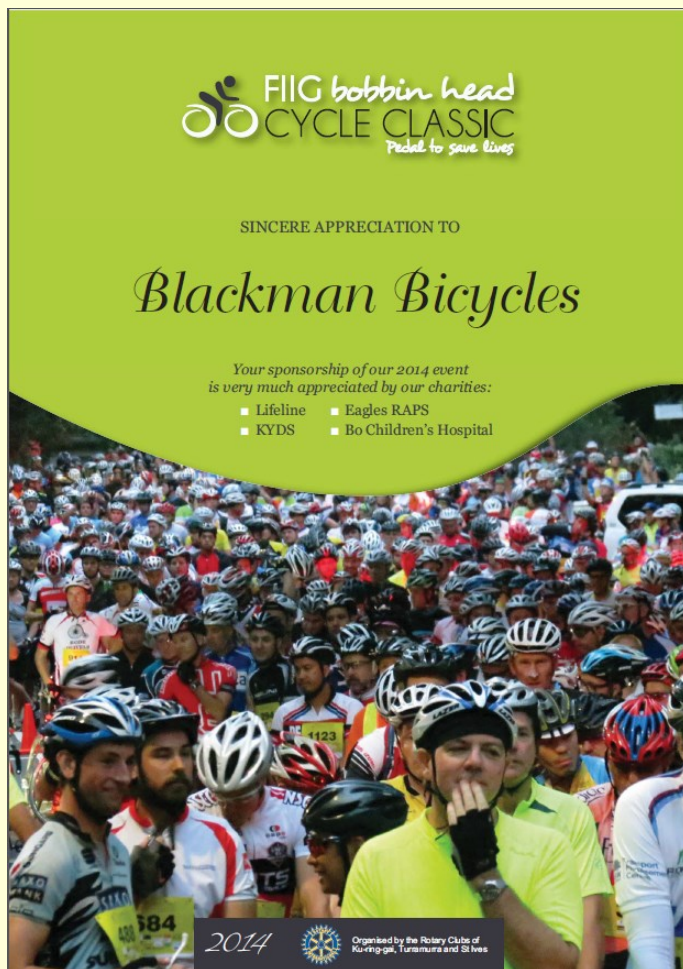

Come along and enjoy a 'guided tour' of the plaques.

Last week: guests & announcements

President Tony:

- Welcomed guest speaker Gareth Hall of Lifestyle Financial Services Pty Limited, Joyce and Robert Enos, Eunice Price and Anne Maslen;
- Thanked Gareth Hall for his company's sponsorship of the Bobbin Head Cycle Classic;
- Congratulated Bob Elsworth on his excellent work in relation to organisation of the Bobbo and volunteered Bob to organise a club restaurant evening and 'Dinners for 8' - well done, Bob; and
- Foreshadowed visits to the club by another 4 cyclists who are potential Rotarians. (If this goes on much longer, the club may have to put forward a motion to the next Rotary International Council on Legislation to change the Rotary logo to a bicycle wheel - Ed.)

Peter Kipps said that the Bobbo committee is sending thank you letters to the major contributors to the event and displayed an appreciation certificate which will be sent to all bike shops and others involved in marketing, etc. (see example in the next column).

WOMEN'S COMMUNITY
SHELTERS

Homelessness and domestic violence have been all too often featured in the media of late and it is a community issue that needs to be addressed.

Police in the Hornsby/Ku-ring-gai Local Area Command attend a domestic violence incident almost every day.

A steering committee has been formed locally that involves a diverse range of well-credentialed local community groups. It is supported by both Hornsby and Ku-ring-gai Councils.

This committee is working to establish a Women's Shelter in the Hornsby/Ku-ring-gai area for women who are the victims of domestic violence.

The Lions Club of Hornsby has as its major project this year to raise funds for the shelter. To this purpose, they are holding a fundraising dinner on Friday, 16 May at Asquith Leagues Club.

Details are on the attached flyer with further information and ticketing available on the Shelter Web Site www.hkws.com.au under upcoming events.

Last week's speaker

Gareth Hall Is a Self-Managed Super Fund (SMSF) right for me?

Gareth opened his talk by emphasising that everything he said would be general information only and not advice. Following are his speaker's notes.

There are lots of misconceptions about the pros and cons of SMSF's, and there is some concern that they are not always being used appropriately. There is also increasing scrutiny from the Tax Office and APRA.

Why would I consider an SMSF, and what are the alternatives to an SMSF?

A concern is that many people choose to run a SMSF for the wrong reasons. Some of these reasons may be:

- BBQ conversations (social 'pressure')
- The Australian DIY fixation
- Fear of getting advice or mistrust of advisers

Alternatives to SMSF's are:

- "Retail" funds, which covers a multitude of offerings,
- Wrap accounts which provide almost as much flexibility
- Industry funds - REST offer some access to direct shares.

Ask yourself - Am I an investment guru or should I outsource?

We do not know what we do not know. So, are you making the best investment decisions you could be, and would you be better off if you actually paid for some advice. The benefits may well and truly outweigh the cost!

- Access to assets not available to small investors, such as infrastructure
- Access to global assets
- Access to internally geared funds
- Reduction of risk due to greater diversification

What assets are suitable inside a SMSF?

There can be no benefit to the member prior to retirement – i.e. no holiday homes, artworks on display, wine collections that are "used".

The 'sole purpose' test (to provide income during retirement) must be met.

The pro's and cons of property in SMSFs

Cannot invest in the family home, holiday home, or overseas property.

5% limit for business real property.

Cannot buy or transfer a property from a member or "associate".

Cannot rent a property to a member or "associate".

Property can be a good asset as it is long term, as is super, but is it overpriced?

What is the cost?

This varies greatly and depends a lot on the assets held in the SMSF.

Estate planning issues

Can be a very good estate planning tool. Can maintain assets in the super environment upon death. Can minimise tax benefits if structured correctly, but you have to know what you are doing and get advice.

Important to note that it is not legally possible to bind the trustee of a super fund with a direction contained in a will. The trustee can overrule a will as in a recent case where a husband as trustee overrode the wife's will by making a trustee decision to pay the benefit to himself as opposed to the estate (will). Similarly, one sibling took over as the trustee of an SMSF and refused to give any benefits to other siblings even though it was in the will.

Family law vs super law, making lawyers very rich. More and more court cases.

Personal or corporate trustee structure?

Personal is cheaper (no setup and annual ASIC fees).

Corporate is generally recommended.

- Provides protection for the member (limited liability).
- Allows members to come and go more readily. Changes in trustees and members can be a costly exercise as, when the trustees change, it is necessary to prepare a deed of appointment and retirement to officially retire the outgoing and appoint the incoming trustees. The trustees must also notify all relevant share registries and banks of a change in trustee to reflect the new ownership in assets on behalf of the fund which can be a time-consuming process. In contrast, where a new member joins a fund with a corporate trustee, it simply requires the appointment of that member as a director of the trustee company. Where a member leaves the fund, it is simply necessary for them to resign as director.
- Some lenders insist on corporate trustees.

What happens as I get older?

If you lose your metal agility do you still want the responsibility?

Super is complicated!

Managing investments is complicated

It may be the husband's passion – but what about the wife if he dies?

Income deeming rules set to apply from 2015.

Traveller's tales

Where was Rob Hall and why was he there? In how many other places in the world could he do the same?

A Fire In the Belly

In Australia we take great pride in the accomplishments of our outstanding citizens, most of whom become household names. But sometimes, someone remarkable slips through the cracks. Such a person is Don Stein. This humble, down-to-earth, 'ordinary' man embodies all the characteristics of the quiet achiever.

Born in the middle of the Great Depression and raised on a poultry farm in the quaint bushland suburb of N.S.W, Don credits his parents for giving him the mantra of success – honesty, integrity, respect and trust ...

Typical of the man he was, Don started all over again and acknowledges that it was in large part thanks to the loyalty of friends and colleagues that Don Stein Plant Hire became the triumph that it was ...

His is an incredible story ... Don simply had the 'fire in the belly' to make a difference. A truly inspirational life.

Early morning shadow of Mount Everest

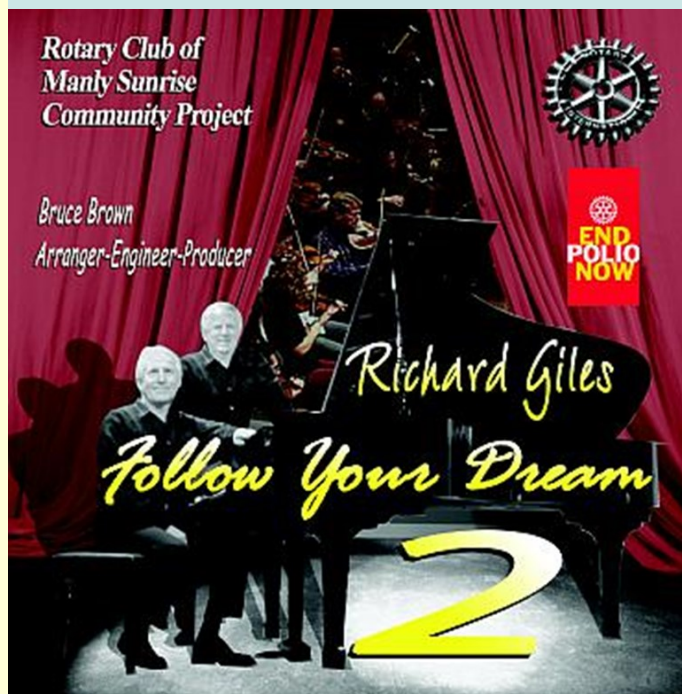

What do cyclists do in their spare time? Steve Wyatt is a member of Bob Elsworth's cycling group. In May 2013 he climbed Mount Everest as a member of a small international expedition, becoming the oldest Australian man to reach the summit.

In this talk, Steve will describe the challenge of climbing the world's highest mountain at an age almost double that of most people who attempt it. Come and be enthralled by his tale of one of the world's ultimate challenges - and bring your friends.

Follow Your Dream

Support a great Rotary project: The Rotary Foundation's End Polio Now Challenge and enjoy Lovely Tunes of Yesteryear by purchasing a copy of Richard Giles Follow Your Dream 2 CD for only $10.

Several years ago, Richard Giles - musician and Bruce Brown - producer/engineer produced Follow Your Dream 2 as a Community Service project of the Rotary Club of Manly Sunrise (now Manly). Copies are still available.

Lovely tunes of yesteryear include:

- Fly my to the moon
- Always
- Autumn leaves
- Manhattan, Crazy
- You raise me up, and
- "I still call Australia home".

Absolutely wonderful. So inspiring, so up-lifting.

Follow Your Dream 2 would make a lovely Mothers' Day, Fathers' Day or Christmas gift, but really it is an all year round gift for all occasions.

The net proceeds will be donated to The Rotary Foundation's End Polio Challenge via the Rotary Club of Manly

The eradication of polio is Rotary's pledge to the children of the world and by you purchasing a copy of Follow Your Dream 2 just gives that extra stimulus for Rotary to achieve it's goal of no polio in the world. That would be marvelous.

To order Follow Your Dream 2, go to the D9685 Shop at shop.rotarydistrict9685.org.au

If you wish to contact Richard to discuss the CD, his email address is: richard@gilesonline.com
